Network cartridge

Sunrise has started the development of a new network card. It supports ethernet UTP and modem, and will be provided with an extension connector for possible future developments like USB support.

Sending and receiving Email and surfing on the world wide web will be possible. FTP services and a Java interpreter may become available in the future as well.

The card will contain an eZ80 co-processor, to ensure sufficient speed. 16MB will be installed on board, of which 4MB may be configured by the user as memory mapper.
